

Artist Biography

A North Carolina native, Josh Jones is part of a growing number of young euphonium players. Born in 1987, he took up the euphonium as a student at Central Cabarrus High School and has enjoyed much success since. Mr. Jones participates in honor bands, teaches marching bands, and plays in several local venues. Mr. Jones recently placed 2nd in the solo euphonium competition at the Southeast Regional Tuba Euphonium Conference, held at Western Carolina University. He also participated in the Solo Brass competition hosted by the North Carolina Music Teacher's National Association. Most recently, Mr. Jones won the UNCG concerto competition and performed Vladimir Cosma's Euphonium Concerto with the UNCG Orchestra on May 6th.
